Announcements.

CONGRESS.
The friends of Rowland C. Burros beg to announce that he is a candidate for Congress in this district in 1902, subject to the action of the Republican party. He believes that a mountain man is as good as any one.

The bill to repeal the law making stockholders liable for double the amount of stock held in a corporation has passed both houses of the Kentucky Legislature. The elimination of this law will encourage the establishment of a great many business enterprises that would not otherwise make a venture.

The omission of Big Sandy river from the Rivers and Harbors bill was a great surprise to the people of this section, who know so well the superior merits of the project to improve this river. It is unaccountable. But fortunately, we have a true friend and able advocate in Senator S. B. Elkins, of West Virginia, who is a member of the committee having these matters in charge in the Senate. His influence is sufficient to take care of Big Sandy's interests. Our people would prefer that the entire burden should not fall upon him, but it seems unavoidable this time. The Big Sandy River Improvement Association, of which Col. Jay H. Northup is president, will continue the fight to the last. Let all friends of the river lend every possible assistance. Everyone can do something.

A SEVERE FOLD FOR MONTHS

The following letter from A. J. Nassbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prescribed me a medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. A. M. Hughes.

LAUREL HILL.

Death has again visited this locality and taken from David Collier and wife a little son one year and nine months old. The bereaved have our sympathy.

Born to J. B. Stephens and wife on the 24th 2 sons, one of them died.

NO APPROPRIATION.

Big Sandy is Left Out of the Rivers and Harbors Bill.

Country H. Northup, received a telegram Saturday evening from Washington City stating that the appropriation for the Rivers and Harbors bill, which was passed by Congress, did not include Big Sandy. This is the first time that this river has been left out of this bill. It is a great disappointment, as United States Senator Elkins is earnestly in favor of an appropriation for Big Sandy, and he has the influence to add the necessary amount to the bill when it reaches the Senate. Col. Northup assures us that it will yet be all right and that with Senator Elkins' support, the river will get what it needs.

INTEZ, KY.

On last Monday Walter Mead, son of Bill Mead, rode through a crowd of school children. His horse kicked striking little Joe Hardin, son of Jasper Hardin, Esq. Sheriff of Martin county, breaking two ribs and tearing an ear almost from his head. It is feared his injuries are serious.

Hovess Kirk, the nine-year-old son of lawyer M. C. Kirk, went to sleep in church Sunday night, and on waking found himself locked in the back of the church. His cries brought help from a neighbor who assisted him in getting out and to his home. He declares he will not sleep in church any more.

Circuit Court is in session. Not many in attendance.

FOR RENT.

Farm, with good out buildings and barn, 5 acres of land and 100 bearing apple trees; 1 1/2 miles from town. Also have 33 acres, 20 in cultivation, near by, will rent. Apply to, I. B. Dixon, Louisa, Ky.

Additional Local.

The many friends of William Porter, son-in-law of J. F. Hatten, Buchanan, Ky., will be sorry to learn that he recently sustained very severe injuries which will disable him for some time. He resides in New York City, and is one of the chief engineers on the famous East river bridge. While superintending a party of about a large wheel, which was about 1,200 lbs., rolled over him, injuring his back very seriously, but the famous surgeon, Dr. McWhorter, who performed the operation on President McKinley, says he will recover, for which his friends will most ardently hope. A. M. Hughes Press.

Big Sandians Must Act.

Lawrence county's people were pledged by its delegates to the last meeting to pay $100 into the Big Sandy River Improvement Association. The money is needed to defray the expenses of those who are fighting for the appropriations so much needed for this river. A portion of this has already been paid voluntarily, but there yet remains the greater part of it unpaid. Not a man has yet been asked for a contribution. The time has arrived when the money is badly needed. The business men should contribute liberally and promptly. Leave the money with M. S. Burns or M. F. Conley by tomorrow evening.

Every county in the valley should send money to W. A. Patton, Treasurer, at Catlettsburg, immediately. Boyd county has already raised a large amount.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Resolved 1—We the members of the Juvenile Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, Louisa, Ky., hereby extend our sincerest sympathy to our worthy member, Lon Wellman, in the loss of his kind and beloved father.

Our hearts are touched by the thought of his deep bereavement, which is one of the heaviest that could befall any of us. May our Father in Heaven bless and care for him through his life.

Resolved 2—That these resolutions be spread on our Minutes and a copy be sent to the Big Sandy News, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family.

THE TOUCH DOES IT

Benyon's Plaster is like your other friends—they hate to see you in pain or in weakness and are dog-tired hearing you complain about it. They want to cure you and send you along to your business, school and happy. They want to do it and do it right. Try them on. What for? Why for any cough or cold you may be troubled with, or any other ailment, or any sore, or any itching pain or ache, or worry with kidney or liver. Possibly some old clutch of muscular rheumatism renders an arm or a leg worth only half price just now. For anything that makes the machine work slow and stiff, with pain maybe in the motion of it, clasp Benyon's Plaster squarely on the spot. They are the great do-it-for-me plaster—and the worst that go to sleep on your skin like a cat on a cushion. There is comfort and speedy relief in the touch of them. No other external remedy, no matter how made or how called, is worthy to live in the name as Benyon's Plaster. Pain and ailments melt away under them as a drop of ice does under the Spring sun. You cannot forestall the weather but you can always forestall the effect of Benyon's Plaster. It is as sure as the effect of a hot breakfast in a hungry man's stomach. But look out for substitutes. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepare a receipt on our circular ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each. Benyon & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N.Y.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Mrs. Wagner, wife of C. H. Wagner, manager of the Hotel Ventana, died at Ashland Monday at noon.

George B. Gardner, formerly of Magoffin county, clerk in the Interior Department, at Washington, has been promoted from $2,000 to $2,250 per year.

Dan Burchett, of Wurtland, now of the 2d U. S. Infantry, has returned from the Hot Springs hospital and ordered to join his regiment in the Philippines Islands.—Huntington Advertiser.

Francis M. Wilcox, a prominent merchant of Oskaloosa, Iowa, died last week. He was a brother of Dr. H. B. Wilcox, of Grayson, and was at one time County School Superintendent of Carter.

The Senate has passed the bill fixing May and December as the months and Catlettsburg as the place for holding terms of the U. S. Circuit and District Courts in the Eastern District of Kentucky.

A. E. Porter, traveling salesman for an Ashland hardware house, was held up by two men and robbed near Buoy, W. Va., last week. They shot at him, the ball striking some memorandum books in his vest pocket. The bullet lodged in the books and his life was thus saved. The men took his money, $25, and his watch.

Marcus Davis and Miss Elizabeth Stafford, of Louisa, Ky., were married at the Probate office Saturday evening by Dr. Homer J. Smith. Rev. B. F. Candell, of Russell, Ky., will not go to Columbus as was his intention, but will remain in Russell, the church having refused to accept his resignation.—Huntington Register.

The little town of Springville was the scene of a beautiful wedding March 1th, at high noon. The contracting parties were Prof. T. S. Williams who went to that place from Paintsville one year ago and who has had the principalship of the graded schools ever since, and Miss Edith Nickell at whose home the professor has been boarding. Miss Nickell is the eldest daughter of Postmaster Charles F. Nickell and has been deputy to her father for the past two years. After a short "honeymoon" trip they will settle at Springville where Mr. Williams has secured the school for another year.

William Johnson was ground to pulp by the C. & O. shuttle train yesterday morning at 9:15, in the lower part of Catlettsburg.

He was walking west on one track. A heavy freight train was coming behind him in the same direction and he looked back and saw that it was on the track opposite that on which he was walking. He then pulled his cap down and proceeded along the track with his head down, as though in deep thought. The noise of the freight train prevented him hearing the shuttle train, which was going east on the track upon which he was walking. Parties who were the terrible accident say that he did not raise his head until the shuttle train was very near him and whistling a series of short blasts. He turned around suddenly and looked up at freight train, he evidently thinking the whistling was being done by that engine. In this way he failed to see the shuttle train and it struck him just as he turned his back toward it.

The body was literally ground to pieces by the wheels of the locomotive. The man's brains were strewn along the track for a considerable distance and the body was crushed and ground to pulp. The pieces were gathered up and an inquest was held by Coroner A. H. Moore. The verdict was that the man came to his death through no fault of the railroad company's.

Johnson was a laborer 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and five children. His home was on Catletts Creek, near Catlettsburg. He was a son of Cal Johnson. This was a terrible affair and a most sickening sight. It is a very sad case, and the man's family is left in an almost helpless condition.

"My daughter had a terrible cough which settled on her lungs," says N. Jackson, of Danville, Ill. "We tried a great many remedies without relief, until we gave her Foley's Honey and Tar which cured her." Refuse substitutes. A. M. Hughes

Just Across the River

In West Virginia.

The name of the postoffice at Poppi has been changed to West Virginia. It was named by mistake at first, the name suggested having been Poppi.

We notice by the Huntington Advertiser that the firm of Valentine and Newcomb has been changed to Valentine, Newcomb & Under.

Mr. Carter is an old Logan boy and his many friends here will be pleased to know that he is coming to the front, and Valentine & Newcomb are to be congratulated on having this excellent young man associated with them.—Huntington Advertiser.

THIS C. MILLER, State Superintendent of free schools in West Virginia, has made a ruling in reference to the Mormons, holding their meetings in school houses of the state. Mr. Miller takes the stand that the Mormons are not a religious denomination, and he says that he will uphold the trustees and members of Boards of Education, where school houses are refused to these so-called administrators.—Huntington Advertiser.

LANGHORN & LANGHORN, of Richmond, Va., the wealthy firm of contractors who have done a great deal of railroad building for the C. & O. railroad company have returned from Pike county, Ky., where it is said they have just closed a deal for a large amount of rich coal and mineral lands. They made a trip up through that country a few weeks ago, where they made arrangements for purchasing this boundary.—Williamson West Virginia.

ONE of our most esteemed and highly respected citizens is dead. He passed away quietly at his home near Naugatuck on last Friday night. Mr. M. B. Thompson had been a long sufferer and life had been prolonged by the most skilled medical treatment. He leaves an interesting family and many friends to regret his loss. He was admired by all who knew him and was a quiet, model and upright citizen.—Williamson West Virginia.

THE Norfolk & Western Railway Company now has an engineering corps at work surveying for a line from Hingston station to Logan C. H., a distance of ten miles. This road will open up the mammoth coal fields on Copperas mine and Island creek. It is the belief of many people that this road will be extended from Logan along the tiny river to the mouth of Gilbert creek and down Ben creek to connect with the main line of the N. & W. at Wharfedale in Mingo county. This belief is stimulated from the fact that capitalists and coal operators from the Blacker coal field have recently purchased large boundaries of coal and timber land on both Gilbert and Ben creeks in Logan.

If this line, which is now contemplated, is built the indications are that it will not be many years until Huntington will have a few millionaires. Huntingtonians are the chief owners of all the land along the proposed route.—Huntington Advertiser.

TRAVELING MEN DROWNED.

Frank Tyree and Louis Schmidt, Well Known in Louisa, Drowned Near Pikeville.

THEIR BODIES HAVE NOT BEEN RECOVERED.

Frank Tyree and Louis Schmidt, two genial and popular continental travelers, were drowned in Big Sandy river, three miles below Pikeville, last Friday at one o'clock p.m. Ed Burke, another traveling salesman, had a narrow escape from the same awful fate as he told his two friends and companions.

A number of traveling men were caught at Pikeville by the flood tide in the river. During the forenoon on Friday Messrs. Schmidt, Tyree and Burke bought a skiff and prepared to start at noon for Whitehouse, a distance of 15 miles, expecting to reach there in time to get the train Saturday for Louisa and Catlettsburg. The families of Tyree and Burke lived at the latter place, and Mr. Schmidt spent Sunday in Louisa whenever possible.

At the time fixed to start, the river was very high, the current unusually swift, and the danger of the situation was increased by the fact that a great many loose saw logs were running. A number of friends endeavored to persuade them to abandon the trip, but in their anxiety to spend Sunday with loved ones they took a hopeful view of the situation and could see no great danger in the trip. They invited C. T. Hale of the firm of Dixon, Moore & Co., of this place, and James Bryant, who travels for the Patton Milling Company, to accompany them, but they declined because of the risk.

The jovial trio set out upon the hazardous trip with light hearts, and with no premonition of the terrible experience that was soon to overtake them. Friends standing upon the bank of the river at the little mountain town, as the skiff was pushed from the shore into the current of the turbulent stream were the recipients of joyous farewells. Songs of gladness fell from the lips of the happy trio as their little boat was caught up on the bosom of the raging tide and borne swiftly toward the cheerful fireside where hearty welcomes awaited them—welcomes such as are found only at home.

All went well for the first three miles. There was not an accident to mar the pleasant anticipation of the three friends. But suddenly, without warning or apparent cause, a large saw log shot out in the direction of striking another log and driving against the skiff with great force. Unfortunately, just at that instant they were near a partly submerged limb of a large tree which at an ordinary stage of the river stood near the water's edge. The skiff struck this limb and was captured instantly. Mr. Burke was thrown away from the skiff. Mr. Schmidt was caught under it, and Mr. Tyree apparently had the best opportunity to escape. But instead of taking advantage of this, he first attempted Mr. Schmidt. The current was bearing them toward the middle of the river all the time, and they probably realized that the only hope was to get hold of a saw log. Tyree finally reached one and got on it, but seeing that his companion was about to drown, he pushed him partly up on a log. Mr. Schmidt felt back into the water immediately, calling for help at every boat. Like the hero that he was, Mr. Tyree continued his efforts to save his friend until he was completely exhausted, and they both went down together. The struggle lasted until they were carried 200 yards or more down the stream.

While this tragic scene was being enacted, Mr. Burke was fighting desperately for his life. He first started to swim ashore, but soon found the current toward the middle of the river so strong that he could not overcome it, so he turned and swam to a saw log, reaching it just as his strength was about exhausted. Battered by cold and thoroughly exhausted it was only by the most supreme effort that he finally succeeded in climbing upon the rear end of the swiftly running log. There he sat, frozen and semi-conscious, until rescued by two men a mile below the place of the frightful accident.

The only witnesses to the horrible scene were Mr. and Mrs. Keel, who live on the opposite side of the river. They were powerless to render any assistance and were forced to watch the three men throughout the awful death struggle. Mr. Keel was completely unnerved by the scene.

The day was warm and neither of the men had his overcoat on. Mr. Schmidt's dress suit case and overcoat were caught some distance below the place of accident. These three traveling men were well known throughout this section of the State, having traveled for several years as salesmen. They were all popular, and this terrible accident has shocked their friends and people in general as

SAD DEATH

Of Mrs. Florence Enslow, a Native of Our County.

Mrs. Martha McClure Enslow died at her home in Huntington, W. Va., last Monday morning at one o'clock.

Such was the startling news by which this community was shocked a few hours later.

The death was sudden and unexpected. Even those who were watching at her bedside did not realize that the end was near until a hour or two before her spirit took its flight. Though she had not been in the best of health for a year or more, there was nothing alarming about her condition. Two hours before her death she coughed violently and was thrown into excruciating pain. She told those present that the coughing had caused some kind of an internal rupture. Intense suffering continued until death brought relief.

Three physicians were called, but they could do nothing for her. She was conscious and realized that death was near, and stated that she was fully prepared. Her husband, Mr. Florence Enslow, was lying in bed upstairs with typhoid fever. Shortly before the death angel came, he was carried into the room where his wife lay dying, and there followed one of the saddest farewell scenes ever witnessed. The ease was made all the more pathetic by the fact that a little son only eight days old is left motherless by this death. Also, a little daughter two years of age.

The burial took place on Tuesday at Huntington. The funeral was preached by Rev. H. B. Evans, pastor of the M. E. Church, of which Mrs. Enslow was a devout and active member.

Deceased was 30 years of age, and the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. McClure, of Gallip, this county, one of our most prominent families. She was married just three years ago. Her life was a most exemplary one. From childhood she had been active in church work, and a more consistent and earnest Christian is rarely, if ever seen. Death found her entirely ready, as it doubtless would have done at any time during many years previous. No one doubts this who knew her.

Only ten months ago her sister, Mrs. E. T. Fann, died in Arizona, leaving a little son but a few days old. Up to that time there had not been a death in the family of their good parents for fifty years, though nine children were reared.

The surviving sisters are Mrs. O. D. Garred, Mrs. G. C. Burgess and Mrs. Dr. Atkinson. The brothers are L. T. J. P., T. S. and J. H. McClure. These and all other relatives are sorely bereaved by this great loss. To them and to the true and worthy husband who is heartbroken, the sincere sympathy of all acquaintances goes out.

WASHED AWAY.

Coffer Dam at Lock No. 2, Big Sandy River, Washed Away.

The present rise in Big Sandy river has done serious damage to work at Lock No. 2, midway between Catlettsburg and Louisa. The coffer dam used for putting in the locks has been swept away. This entails a loss of several thousand dollars, as it will cost a great deal to replace it when the season arrives. The work of completing the lock will also be greatly delayed.

HEAVY SNOW

Throughout the Sandy Valley.
High Water Reported Coming.

There was a very heavy fall of snow here Tuesday and Wednesday. It measured eighteen inches Wednesday when it stopped snowing. Reports from different parts of the county and from points up the river are that there was more snow there than here.

Reports from Pikeville and Williamson state that there have been heavy rain falls at both places and that Tug and Louisa rivers are rising rapidly, with indications of very high water. The river at this place is rising slowly as we go to press. There is already a good stage of water here.

Railroad traffic has been badly crippled on the Big Sandy Division since the snow. On Wednesday morning it required three engines to take the passenger train to Ashland, and from that time until Thursday morning two engines were required. The freight traffic was almost entirely suspended on Wednesday. The track is now clear and trains are running regularly.

Reed & Jordan, the Portsmouth firm of which Louis Schmidt was a valued employee, has offered $100 reward for the recovery of the body. Two searching parties are out looking for the bodies of Schmidt and Tyree, but all the weather and water conditions are against them and it is likely to be some time before they can do very effective work.

Never Borrow A Toothbrush

Nor Use Any Soap But Your Own

Loathsome skin diseases are contracted by using the cheap scented soaps which the market is crowded. We have soap that contains no adulterations. People who are careful to avoid disease no more think of using the soap they find in use in public places than they would of borrowing a tooth-brush from the chambermaid. We also have tooth-brushes of all grades except the second-hand kind.
